a. Women Empowerment

Women empowerment through education is a vital step toward building an inclusive and progressive society. Educational institutions play a crucial role in creating opportunities for girls so that they can become confident, independent, and capable of contributing to social and economic development. By ensuring equal access to education, colleges and universities help in breaking traditional barriers and promoting gender equality.

Atal Bihari Vajpayee Government Degree College Takipur has taken a commendable initiative to promote women empowerment through education. As a best practice, the college supports girl students by providing financial assistance and encouraging their participation in higher education. One of the most significant initiatives is that the institution bears the fees of the first four female children in a family, which greatly reduces the financial burden on parents and motivates them to educate their daughters.

Because of such supportive measures, the college has achieved a remarkable gender balance. Nearly 80% of the total student population consists of female students, reflecting the institution's strong commitment to promoting girls' education. This initiative not only increases enrollment of girls in higher education but also creates an environment where women can develop their academic abilities, leadership skills, and confidence.

Through such progressive practices, the college is playing an important role in empowering women and encouraging them to become active participants in nation-building. By supporting female education and creating equal opportunities, the institution is contributing significantly to the social and economic upliftment of the community.

Girls outnumber boys at Takipur Govt. College

The Degree College at Takipur is in its nascent stage with a total strength of 358, of which girl students, with a strength of 236, are dominating the boys, whose count is only 122, with 15 per cent girl students, the college is actually strengthening the cause of woman empowerment.

It came into being in 2015, together with many other colleges. It was a popular initiative of the government that year aimed at fulfilling the academic needs of the people residing in the backward rural areas popularly known as 'changer areas' of Kangra district. The college classes initially commenced in a humble accommodation of the building belonging to the primary school at Takipur. The foundation stone of the new complex was laid in 2015 and it got inaugurated in 2020.

The college has 14 sanctioned posts of teachers, including that of the principal of which three are lying vacant. In the non-teaching category there are 16 posts which include eight regular, seven vacant and one of P.T.A.

According to Principal Dr. K.S. Attari, the college is confined to mere 10 kanals of land and has no playground. Talking to The Tribune, he said, "To meet our sports requirements, we are depending on the playground of the nearby village panchayat at Daulatpur. The college is getting ready for the NAAC accreditation in the coming academic session, next year."

The Principal further said priority before the college is to get ready for the implementation of the National Education Policy (NEP) likely to be introduced the very next year.

b. Community Connected Campus: Learning beyond Classrooms

“Community Connected Campus: Learning Beyond Classrooms” is an initiative undertaken by ABV Government Degree College, Takipur to strengthen the relationship between the college and the surrounding rural communities. The practice aims to extend the learning process beyond the traditional classroom by encouraging students and faculty members to engage directly with nearby villages such as Takipur, Galliyan, Daulatpur, and Chaunda. Through this initiative, the college organizes community awareness programs, cleanliness drives, environmental campaigns, and interaction sessions with local residents. These activities focus on spreading awareness about important issues such as environmental protection, health and hygiene, drug abuse prevention, and social responsibility. By participating in such programs, students gain practical exposure to real-life social challenges and develop a deeper understanding of their role as responsible citizens. The initiative also helps in building a strong bond between the institution and the local community, promoting mutual cooperation and trust. The use of this practice lies in providing students with experiential learning opportunities while simultaneously contributing to the welfare and awareness of the surrounding villages. It encourages students to apply their knowledge in real-life situations, enhances leadership and communication skills, and promotes social responsibility, thereby making education more meaningful and socially relevant.

Benefits of Community Connected Campus: Learning beyond Classrooms

- Experiential Learning: Students gain practical exposure by applying classroom knowledge to real-life community situations.
- Social Responsibility: Encourages students to develop a sense of responsibility toward society and community welfare.
- Leadership Development: Participation in community programs helps students build leadership and organizational skills.
- Improved Communication Skills: Interaction with villagers enhances students’ communication and interpersonal abilities.
- Community Awareness: Helps spread awareness among local residents about important issues such as environmental protection, health, hygiene, and social problems.
- Strengthened Institution–Community Relationship: Builds trust and cooperation between the college and surrounding villages.
- Personality Development: Students become more confident and socially aware through active participation in outreach activities.
- Promotion of Civic Values: Encourages values such as teamwork, empathy, and active citizenship among students.
